

Executive & Staff Retreats

AS YOUR ORGANIZATION ADAPTS AND GROWS, leadership responsibilities evolve and priorities change. In order to achieve success, there must be a shared commitment to the goals and objectives of your business. This does not happen by chance, but rather by design. To lead an effective organization, your team must move beyond firefighting and devote quality time to:

- 1) improving your ability to communicate and work as a cohesive unit;
- 2) refocusing your team toward key initiatives;
- 3) fine-tuning your business strategy; and
- 4) shaping your corporate culture.

FlashPoint can assist in planning and facilitating your executive and staff retreats from start to finish. We'll meet with you to assess what approach will work best with your team, collect and analyze information about your business and culture, and set specific goals and outcomes for your event. Our approach is to help you create a parallel universe to get your team out of the daily realities and into creative problem-solving mode. Choose from a variety of options including fun activities and off-the-beaten-path locations. We know that business is far from usual these days, and we'll work within the scope of your budget and time constraints.

Aristotle once said, "We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence then is not an act but a habit." Getting together with your team offers a critical time for renewal and an opportunity to set a clear vision and create new habits for the coming year. If you're interested in holding a retreat, please contact us for a free initial phone consultation. Let FlashPoint design a retreat that will energize and refocus your group!

Retreat Options:

- » Coordination of your event details
- » Assistance with event agenda
- » Facilitation of strategic planning
- » Training in specific skill areas
- » Team assessments & simulations
- » Idea generation and planning for group activities, including physical experiential learning activities
- » Indoor and outdoor facility options
- » Post-event evaluation

"We are what we repeatedly do. Excellence then is not an act but a habit." -Aristotle